

PENED IN A SHAFT WITH FIERY SIDES

PENNSYLVANIA MINERS MEET A HORRIBLE DEATH.

Explosion of the Luke Fiedler Shaft near Shamokin results disastrously to the Colliers—Further Details of the Steel Mill Tragedy in Chicago Yesterday.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., Oct. 9.—By an explosion in the Luke Fiedler mine to-day one man was killed, and four others were left in the mine without an avenue of escape. The shaft is on fire. Fifty of the miners were rescued alive.

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—Three employees instantly killed and four others so severely injured that their recovery is in doubt is the record made at the South Chicago rail mill of the Illinois steel company yesterday. The dead are:

WILLIAM MILLER, 30 years old, 9020 Erie avenue.

A. B. SPARROW, 25 years old, Seventy-Ninth street and Reynolds avenue.

JOHN HOLSTROM, 9029 Green Bay avenue.

The injured are:

THOMAS DORSEY, 321 Ninety-Second street.

OSCAR WAGNER, 8414 Buffalo avenue.

JOSEPH TODDENTER, 5714 Saginaw avenue.

PETER MIKEY, Eighty-Ninth street and Commercial avenue.

At 3 o'clock in the morning, when the shocking accident occurred, there were fifty men at work near the steam pipe in the rail mill. This pipe was one of the large main feeders, extending through the entire plant, and in the rail mill it passed through about the middle of the department.

The pipe feeders running through the entire plant exploded in the middle of the large inclosure where seventy-five men were at work. The report was deafening and gave the employees the first intimation of danger. Many were slightly injured and were able to run from the shop. Escaping steam filled the rooms, and the cries of the injured and the absence of many of their comrades warned those who had gained safety that the explosion had been followed by serious and probably fatal results.

Quickly regaining their courage the uninjured employees began the work of rescuing and caring for their injured fellow laborers. The steam was shut off and as the clouds cleared away the extent of the explosion became apparent. Eighty men were lying unconscious among the machinery and others were picking themselves up, having escaped everything except the stunning effects of the explosion.

Miller and Sparrow were dead when rescuers reached them.

FUNERAL OF HOLMES.

Services Will Be Held at King's Chapel, Boston, at Noon.

BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 9.—Until the news of Dr. Holmes' death appeared in the papers yesterday not many beyond the immediate family of the venerable poet knew that his illness was critical. Though he had been a sufferer from asthma for some time and the struggle with this disease had left him in a weakened condition it was not until noon Sunday that the first decided mark of death's coming was seen. In a brief quarter of an hour the great poet was no more. To outward appearances there is nothing about the residence on Beacon street to indicate that the domestic serenity within has been ruthlessly and suddenly broken. The funeral services will be held at King's Chapel to-morrow at noon. It is expected that Rev. Stopford W. Brooke will officiate.

IS CHEE FOO HELD BY THE JAPANESE?

IMPORTANT PORT SAID TO HAVE FALLEN.

Chinese Reported to Have Lost An Important Strategic Point—Crisis in the Oriental War Likely to Come in a Few Days—Russia Moving.

YOKOHAMA, Oct. 9.—It is reported that the Japanese have captured Chee Foo, gaining great strategic advantage.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—The crisis of the China-Japan war is looked for within the next ten days or two weeks by those most interested and best informed on the contest.

The legations of the two countries are expecting daily to hear that the decisive battle has been fought. This is based on the fact that the Japanese have been gradually closing in around Peking and the invading army is compelled by force of circumstances to strike the blow at once or not at all. The intense cold which comes on or about the middle of October makes this imperative. The Japanese climate is very mild even in winter and the Japanese troops are wholly unprepared for the rigorous climate about Peking. The Chinese look upon this as one of their defenses and the Japanese fully appreciate that it compels them to concentrate their campaign for this year into the next few weeks.

They are expected to make heroic efforts to decide the contest at once. They are without the heavy clothing, camp equipments, etc., for a campaign in the bitter cold.

MUCH MADAGASCAR TROUBLE.

French Representative Backed Up by Two Thousand Troops.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—The authorities here do not consider the Madagascar question, which looked so ominous during the week, as settled, but merely postponed until the latter part of this month. The French official who has been authorized to take summary steps to maintain France's position in Madagascar will not arrive there until Oct. 15.

The recent flurry was due to his departure from Paris. When he arrives at his destination and begins the execution of his vigorous policy the real contest between France and Great Britain may be expected. Semi-official advices received here are to the effect that the new French official is directed to close the long contention by asserting the rights of France and then backing them up with force. To this end 2,000 French troops will soon follow the official. It is believed, therefore, that while the recent announcement that France had blockaded Madagascar ports was premature, it foreshadows stirring events in Madagascar as soon as the French envoy reaches there.

The steamer El Sud, which reached here yesterday from New Orleans, while in the gulf stream on Friday, 125 miles east of Jacksonville, also passed an abandoned lumber laden vessel on fire. She was supposed to have been the bark Otac Ninco, which was caught in the hurricane a few weeks ago. The position of this boat also renders her very dangerous to navigation.

MASSACHUSETTS DEMOCRATS.

John E. Russell Again Heads Their State Ticket.

BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 9.—Massachusetts democrats nominated their state ticket yesterday. John E. Russell, who was defeated by Greenhalge a year ago, is again put at the head of the ticket. In his speech of acceptance he said: "The democratic party does not intend to reopen the whole tariff question. Business interests are entitled to a period of rest—of certainty and the new tariff law to a full and fair trial." After discussing other national and state issues he denounced the A. P. A. The platform was adopted as reported.

Regret is expressed at the defeat of the Wilson bill, and the retirement is demanded of those democratic senators who contributed to that result. The claim is made for the new tariff law, however, that it is an improvement upon the McKinley tariff. The platform declares in favor of placing raw materials on the free list; holds it is the sole function of the federal government in monetary matters to provide a standard of value and to coin metallic money, and every dollar of which shall be of equal intrinsic value; that nothing but this coined money shall be a legal tender, and that the government shall not carry on a banking business. "We demand that the untaxed notes of state or national banks shall be the only paper money, and that the government shall, with the development of a banking system adequate to the demands of the trade, retire as rapidly as possible all its legal tender paper money." The principle of the income tax is approved and the A. P. A. is condemned. The full ticket is as follows: Governor, John E. Russell; secretary of state, Charles de Courcy; attorney-general, Henry F. Huribut; treasurer and receiver general, James S. Grinnell; auditor, Alfred C. Whitney.

The storm seems to be traveling in a northeasterly direction from Pensacola. At Jacksonville the barometer has fallen to 29.5, and the wind has reached a velocity of thirty-six miles an hour. But the crowd that flocked to hear Mr. McKinley was so great that all chairs were removed from the floor of the hall so as to accommodate all who came. Supreme Court of South Carolina Declares It Is Constitutional.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Oct. 9.—The decision of the Supreme court in the dispensary cases was filed last night. Justices Pope and Gary declare the law constitutional, while Chief Justice Mclver dissents. The effect of the decision will be that Gov. Tillman will now begin an active warfare against "blind tigers," which have been flourishing without much molestation since the act was declared unconstitutional. What the saloon men will do is problematical. They have no show of fighting the law in the courts, but it is more than likely that some kind of a case will be got up which will finally bring the question into the Supreme court of the United States.

HADASSAH" WAS TALMAGE'S SUBJECT

HADASSAH. THE LOVELY JEW-
ESS OF SHUSHAN.

The Most Beautiful Character in the History of Religion—She Cared Nothing for Earthly Joys and Met Martyrdom With Gentle Firmness.

Oct. 7, 1894.—Rev. Dr. Talmage, who is still absent on his round-the-world tour, has selected as the subject of to-day's sermon, through the press: "Hadassah," the text chosen being Esther ii: 7: "And he brought up Hadassah."

A beautiful child was born in the capital of Persia. She was an orphan and a captive, her parents having been stolen from their Israelitish home and carried to Shushan, and had died, leaving their daughter poor and in a strange land. But an Israelite who had been carried into the same captivity was attracted by the case of the orphan. He educated her in his holy religion, and under the roof of that good man this adopted child began to develop a sweetness and excellency of character if ever equalled, certainly never surpassed. Beautiful Hadassah! Could that adopted father ever spare her from his household? Her artlessness; her girlish sports; her innocence; her orphanage, had wound themselves thoroughly around his heart, just as around each parent's heart among us there are tendrils climbing, and fastening and blossoming, and growing stronger. I expect he was like others who have loved ones at home—wondering sometimes if sickness will come, and death, and bereavement. Alas! Worse than anything that the father expects happens to his adopted child. Ahasuerus, a princely scoundrel, demands that Hadassah, the fairest one in all the kingdom, become his wife. Worse than death was marriage to such a monster of iniquity! How great the change when this young woman left the home where God was worshipped and religion honored, to enter a palace devoted to pride, idolatry and sensuality! "As a lamb to the slaughter!"

Ahasuerus knew not that his wife was a Jewess. At the instigation of the infamous prime minister the king decreed that all the Jews in the land should be slain. Hadassah pleads the cause of her people, breaking through the rules of the court, and presenting herself in the very face of death, crying: "If I perish, I perish." Oh, it was a sad time among that enslaved people! They had all heard the decree concerning their death. Sorrow, gaunt and ghastly, sat in thousands of households, and mothers wildly pressed their infants to their breasts as the days of massacre hastened on, praying that the same sword stroke which slew the mother might also slay the child, rosebud and bud perishing in the same blast.

But Hadassah is busy at court. The hard heart of the king is touched by her story, and although he could not reverse his decree for the slaying of the Jews, he sent forth an order that they should arm themselves for defense. On horseback; on mules; on dromedaries, messengers sped through the land bearing the king's dispatches, and a shout of joy went up from that enslaved people at the faint hope of success. I doubt not many a rusty blade was taken down and sharpened. Unbearded youths grew stout as giants at the thought of defending mothers and sisters. Desperation strung up cowards into heroes, and fragile women grasping their weapons swung them about the erasles impatient for the time to strike the blow in behalf of household and country.

The day of execution dawned. Government officials, armed and drilled, cowed before the battle shout of the oppressed people. The cry of defeat rang back to the palaces, but above the mountains of dead, above 75,000 crushed and mangled corpses sounded the triumph of the delivered Jews, and their enthusiasm was as when the Highlanders came to the relief of Lucknow, and the English army which stood in the very jaws of death, at the sudden hope of assistance and rescue, lifted the shout above belching cannon and the death-groan of hosts, crying, "We are saved! We are saved!"

My subject affords me opportunity of illustrating what Christian character may be under the greatest disadvantages. There is no Christian now exactly what he wants to be. Your standard is much higher than anything you have attained unto. If there be any man so puffed up as to be thoroughly satisfied with the amount of excellency he has already attained, I have nothing to say to such a one. But to those who are dissatisfied with past attainments, who are toiling under disadvantages which are keeping them from being what they ought to be, I have a message from God. You each of you labor under difficulties. There is something in your temperament; in your worldly circumstances; in your calling, that acts powerfully against you. Admitting all this, I introduce to you Hadassah of the text, a noble Christian, notwithstanding the most gigantic difficulties. She whom you might have expected to be one of the worst of women, is one of the best.

In the first place, our subject is an illustration of what Christian character may be under orphanage. This Bible line tells a long story about Hadassah. "She had neither father or mother." A nobleman had become her guardian, but there is no one who can take the place of a parent. Who so able at night to hear a child's prayer; or at twilight to chide youthful wanderings; or to soothe youthful sorrows? An individual will go through life bearing the marks of orphanage. It will require more strength, more persistence, more grace, to make such an one the right kind of a Christian. He who at 40 years loves a parent must reel under the blow. Even down to old age men are accustomed to rely upon the counsel, or be powerfully influenced by the advice of parents, if they are still alive. But how much greater the bereavement when it comes in early life, before the character is self-reliant, and when naturally the heart is unsophisticated and easily tempted.

And yet behold what a nobility of disposition Hadassah exhibited! Though father and mother were gone, grace had triumphed over all disadvantages. Her willingness to self-sacrifice; her control over the king; her humility; her faithful worship of God, shows her to have been one of the best of the world's Christians.

There are those who did not enjoy remarkable early privileges. Perhaps, like the beautiful captive of the text, you were an orphan. You had huge sorrows in your little heart. You sometimes wept in the night when you knew not what was the matter. You felt sad sometimes even on the playground. Your father or mother did not stand in the door to welcome you when you came home from a long journey. You still feel the effect of early disadvantages, and you have sometimes offered them as a reason for your not being as thoroughly religious as you would like to be. But these excuses are not sufficient. God's grace will triumph if you seek it. He knows what obstacles you have fought against and the more trial the more help. After all, there are no orphans in the world, for the great God is the Father of us all.

Again, our subject is an illustration of what religion may be under the pressure of poverty. The captivity and crushed condition of this orphan girl, and of the kind man who adopted her, suggest a condition of poverty. Yet, from the very first acquaintance we had with Hadassah we find her the same happy and contented Christian. It was only by compulsion she was afterwards taken into a sphere of honor and affluence. In the humble home of Mordecai, her adopted father, she was a light that illumined every privation. In some period in almost every man's life there comes a season of straightened circumstances when the severest calculation and most scrapping economy are necessary in order to subsistence and respectability. At the commencement of business, at the entrance upon a profession, when friends are few and the world is afraid of you because there is a possibility of failure, many of the noblest hearts have struggled against poverty, and are now struggling. To such I bear a message of good cheer. You say it is a hard thing for you to be a Christian. This constant anxiety, this unresting calculation, wear out the buoyancy of your spirit, and although you have told perhaps no one about it, can not I tell that this is the very trouble which keeps you from being what you ought to be? You have no time to think about laying up treasures in heaven when it is a matter of great doubt whether you will be enabled to pay your next quarter's rent. You can not think of striving after a robe of righteousness until you can get means enough to buy an overcoat to keep out the cold. You want the bread of life, but you think you must get along without that until you can buy another barrel of flour for your wife and children. Sometimes you sit down discouraged and almost wish you were dead. Christians in satin slippers, with their feet on damask ottoman, may scout at such a class of temptations, but those who themselves have been in the struggle and grip of hard misfortune, can appreciate the power of these evils to dissuade the soul away from religious duties. We admit the strength of the temptation, but then we point to Hadassah, her poverty equalled by her piety. Courage down there in the battle! Hurl away your disappointment! Men of half your heart have, through Christ, been more than conquerors. In the name of God, come out of that! The religion of Christ is just what you want out there among the empty flour barrels and beside the cold hearths. You have never told any one of what a hard time you have had, but God knows it as well as you know it. Your easy times will come after awhile. Do not let your spirits break down mid life. What if your coat is thin? Run fast enough to keep warm. What if you have no luxuries on your table? High expectations will make your blood tingling better than the best Maderia. If you can not afford to smoke, you can afford to whistle. But merely animal spirits are not sufficient; the power of the gospel—that is what you want to wrench despair out of the soul and put you forward into the front of the hosts, encased in impenetrable armor. It does not require extravagant wardrobe, and palatial residence, and dashing equipage to make a man rich. The heart right the estate is right. A new heart is worth the world's wealth in one role of bank bills; worth all sceptres of earthly power bound in one sheaf; worth all crowns expressed in one coronet. Many a man without a farthing in his pocket has been rich enough to buy the world out and have stock left for larger investment. It is not often that men of good habits come to positive beggary, but among those who live in comfortable houses all about you, among honest mechanics, and professional men who never say a word about it, there are exhibitions of heroism and endurance such as you may never have imagined. These men who ask no aid; who demand no sympathy; who with strong arm and skillful brain push their own way through, are Hannibals scaling the Alps; are Hercules slaying the lion; are Moses in God's name driving back the seas. Hadassah with her needle has done braver things than Caesar with a sword.

Again our subject illustrates what religion may be when in a strange land, or far from home. Hadassah was a stranger in Shushan. Perhaps brought up in the quiet of rural scenes, she was now surrounded by the dazzle of a city. Heads as strong as hers had been turned by the transit from country to city. None than that, she was in a strange land. Yet in that loneliness she kept the Christian's integrity, and was as consistent among the allurements of Shushan as among the kindred of her father's house.

Perhaps, I address some who are now far away from the home of their fathers. You came across the seas. The sepulchres of your dead are far away. Whatever may be the comfort and adornment of your present home, you can not forget the place of your birth, though it may have been lowly and unhonored. You often dream of your youthful days, and in the silent twilight run off to the distant land and seem to see your forsaken home, just as it was when your people were all alive. Though you may have hundreds of friends around you, you often feel that you are strangers in a strange land. God saw the bitter partings when your families were scattered. He watched you in the ship's cabin floundering the stormy seas. He knew the bewilderment of your disembarkation on a strange shore, and your wanderings up and down this land have been under an eye that never sleeps, and felt by a heart that always pities. Stranger, far from home, you have a companion in the beautiful Hadassah, as good in Shushan as in her native Jerusalem. Indeed, very many of you are distant from the place of your nativity. Some of you may be pilgrims from the warm south, or from harder climes than ours, from latitudes of deeper snows and sharper frosts. You have come down in these regions for purposes of thrift and gain. You have brought your tents and pitched them here, and you seldom now go back again except to visit the old village with wide streets and plenty of trees, on some holiday. This is not the climate in which many of you were born. These mothers are not the neighbors who came to the old homestead to greet you into life. These churches are not those under the shadow of which your grandfather was buried. These are not all ministers of Christ who out of the baptismal font sprinkled your baby brow. Far away the kirk! Far away the homestead! Far away the town! Have you formed habits which would not have seemed right in the places and times of which we speak? Have you built an altar in your present abode? Is the religion of olden time once planted in your heart come up in glorious harvest? Is your present home an edifice upon that from which you were transplanted? Then are ye worthy companions of Hadassah, the stranger as holy in Shushan as in Jerusalem.

THROGS WELCOME MCKINLEY.
Governor McKinley is in Madison today and five hundred Rock county people have joined in the great body that bids him welcome. This western tour of the eloquent Ohioan is one of the most successful that has ever been made by a public man in this country, and the explanation lies in the fact that he discusses a question of surpassing public interest in a style that suits the people.

When the democratic orators assert that the profits of protection have all been pocketed by the manufacturers, they are flatly contradicted by the fact that the wages paid in the protected industries of his country have been from 50 to 100 per cent. higher than those paid for the same kind of labor in England.

Governor McKinley puts the case plainly and forcibly when he says that "nothing is cheap to the American people which comes from abroad if it enforces idleness among our own workmen;" and no sort of democratic sophistry can prevent the average voter from seeing it in that light.

New Jersey is at the head of all the states in practical road improvement. Under a new law, passed by the legislature in 1891, the state pays one-third of the cost of improved roads and the county the remainder, less 10 per cent. of the whole cost, which is levied on the property holders benefited.

Speaking of the force bill, it is a curious fact that the militia had to be called out to preserve order at the recent state election in Florida, and it was not the negro element, but the white one, that made this "bayonet rule" necessary.

David B. Hill will make the fight of his life this fall; for his whole future depends upon the result of the vote in November. The fates are against him and his party, however. New York will be carried by the republicans in 1894 and 1896.

The largest republican gains in Connecticut were made in the manufacturing districts, where the workmen are familiar by personal experience with the effect of the new tariff law on wages.

Do the democratic orators who are making savage attacks upon protection remember that the only protection now in the federal statute-books was placed there by a democratic congress.

PAVERS ON MILWAUKEE STREET.
Ryan & Brown Begin Work on the East Side Improvements.

Contractors Ryan & Brown, who were last night awarded the contract for paving East Milwaukee street, commenced the work at 1 o'clock this afternoon.

"We cannot do much today," said John Brown, the junior member of the firm, "but in the morning we will tear up the street in fine shape."

It is understood that Supton Norri will be appointed by the mayor to superintend the work on the part of the city, and see that none but sound blocks are put down.

To get down to the original grade, requires considerable cutting. A large amount of stone has been dumped on the street from time to time, especially on the portion that is to be paved. This has raised the road bed in places much higher than the walks. Along the Myers house front and near the intersection with Bluff street on the south the contract is especially noticeable.

TEACHERS TALK OF SCHOOL MUSIC
Papers Were Read by Several Instructors at Yesterday's Meeting.

"Music in the Public Schools," was the subject discussed by Janesville teachers at the regular bi-weekly teachers' meeting which was held in the Lincoln school building yesterday afternoon. A paper on the subject "The Influence and Power of Music," was given by Miss Sayles, which called forth much discussion. Miss Carolyn Kimball gave a suggestive talk on "How Much Can Be Done with Music in the Public Schools." Miss Cody read a paper advocating the view that a special teacher was necessary to secure the best results in the art of singing but this theory was strongly combated by some of the teachers, who were of the opinion that a teacher did not need to be a trained musician in order to teach intelligently the rudiments of music to children. Some of the teachers testified to having secured excellent results with classes in that line when they themselves could not sing a note. At the next meeting the same subject will be continued and the subject of drawing will also be considered.

"JACK THE HUGGER" HIT.
Three Young Ladies Beat Him Off with Their Umbrellas.

Janesville has a "Jack the Hugger." His first hugging was done in the vicinity of Pleasant street at 9:30 in the evening. In the language of the street, "he didn't do very well."

Three young ladies were walking down the street at hours when "Jack" appeared. Two were walking abreast and the third was a few feet behind them. "Jack" grabbed the third and hugged her. She didn't scream, but she did fight, and so successfully that "Jack" let go. She told him to "clear out" but instead of clearing he hugged her again. Then they all fell upon him with their umbrellas and battered him lustily. They drove him ahead of them down the street and were going to turn him over to the authorities but he begged pitiously and after whacking him a few times more they let him go. No arrests. No names. No anything. Mum's the word.

MURPHYS TO BE TRIED NOVEMBER 8
Two Beloit Men Charged With Using a Hatchet on a Woman.

The case of the state against P. W. Murphy, charged with assault with intent to do great bodily harm, was called in the municipal court and adjourned until November 8. The case of the state against William Murphy, same charge, was also adjourned to same date. Both cases come from Beloit. The defendants it is charged, made an assault upon a woman with an ax last July. Sutherland & Nolan appear for defendants and District Attorney Wheeler for the state.

Mrs. J. H. LANSING, of South Glen's Falls, Saratoga County, N. After I had taken one bottle of your 'Favorite Prescription' I could see a great change in my strength and less sick headaches. Continued taking the medicine until I had taken seven bottles of the 'Favorite' and one of the 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I am now able to do housework for myself and husband and two children aged nine and five. I also take dressmaking and enjoy walking a mile at a time, when I can have the time to do so. And I am sure it is all due to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription as I know I was falling fast before I commenced to take it." Sold by medicine dealers everywhere.

SENT 300 SHOUTERS TO GREET M'KINLEY

JANESVILLE REPUBLICANS VIGOROUSLY REPRESENTED.

Five Carloads Of Enthusiastic Admirers Of the Ohio Man Went From This City, Some On One Road Some On the Other—Long Special Trains.

Eleven coaches and a baggage car rolled out of the Northwestern depot at one o'clock this afternoon, bound for the McKinley meeting at Madison. The special train was made up in Beloit, and took on a lot of Beloit republicans as a starter. At Janesville four cars were loaded with 250 enthusiasts, headed by Chairman W. T. Vankirk. Other big delegations were picked up in Evansville and Brooklyn. The morning train on the Milwaukee & St. Paul carried fifty more from this city. They were the extra enthusiastic ones and wanted to be sure of good seats. The Northwestern special train will return to this city at 6:30 this evening.

A new school will be opened Wednesday, October 10, at 69 West Milwaukee street, giving a full course of instruction in the use of the Diamond Garment cutter. Dressmakers will find this system of untold value and ladies who want to learn how to make their own dresses should improve the opportunity. Grant & Rulison, representatives.

Formal announcements have been sent out of the marriage of Mrs. Marion Lighthizer, of this city, to L. O. Chapman, of Poolville, N. Y. Rev. F. H. Pence of the Presbyterian church, performed the ceremony July 2. Mr. Chapman has been in the employ of the Singer Sewing Machine company for the past four years.

Two hundred of our very best made and finest cassimere, chevrot and wooster child short pant suits were carried over from last season, sold them at $5 to $8. But very few of them were sold less than $6.50. We want to close out the entire line. For a week only your choice of any of these suits for $3.85. T. J. Ziegler.

EVANGELIST MOODY SPEAKS TOMORROW

FAMOUS PREACHER TO VISIT JANESVILLE.

Family Skeletons Listed in the Baptist Convention—Rev. Mr. White Says Chicago Deserved the Railroad Riots If Any City Did—Work Of Women.

Dwight L. Moody, the world-famed evangelist, will address a joint meeting of the Baptist and Presbyterian state bodies tomorrow from 10 until 11 o'clock a. m. His subject will be "the Holy Spirit." The meeting will be held in the Congregational church and the public will be welcome.

Baptist preachers have been in session since last evening, and Presbyterians open the synodical convention to-night. Between them they bring five hundred people to the city.

A rattling fire of solid shot has come from the platform of the Baptist church all day.

Not a moment wasted. Sharp, crisp, pithy ten minute talks have occupied the entire day, and each speaker has seemed determined to crowd the thought of a full two hour sermon into his brief space.

"Unwise Methods of Securing a Congregation" appeared to Rev. L. A. Clevenger of Oshkosh, to be summed up in one word—Sensationalism. The nonsensical forms of this were illustrated by some specimen sermon topics such as are often seen. They were defined as tricks of the ministry to induce people to attend when nothing special was to be said.

Rev. C. B. Henderson, D. D., of Chicago University dealt with "Sociology—The Extension of Christian Ethics Into Social Relations." He pointed out that only by a study of race conditions could the Christian ministry be made most effective. He had no patience with the man who said such a study could not be carried on in a country town. "The country village" said he "lies right under the center of God's heaven and embraces all kinds of life." He wanted the influence that lay behind the movements of the country studied. He wanted it remembered that the men who go down to Washington merely record the will of the people.

"I would far rather be the man who is shaping this influence in the home, in the church, in the school, than to be the man who goes to congress clothed in a little brief authority and after a few brief years retires on what he has stolen." [Hearty applause.]

How Families Are Wrecked. Family skeletons were dragged out into the light by Rev. C. N. Patterson, of Whitewater. Mr. Patterson spoke on "Right and Wrong in Domestic Relations—Perils of the Family." Ministers, he said, were brought into contact with the family more than any other class, and they spoke from a point of vantage on family affairs. The rocks most dangerous to families were four in number: Infidelity, most often on the part of husband. Concealment of little affairs from one member of the family by the other. Aversion of many women to the responsibilities of motherhood. The disobedience of children. The first evil was declared to be shockingly prevalent. The influence of secret societies in drawing the husband's attention, and financial resources away from the home was also dealt with.

Rev. D. B. Cheney, of Ashland, was to have had the congenial topic of "Civic Virtue Manifested in the Attacks on Evil," but was not present, and his subject was passed.

"Means of Elevating the Spiritual Life of the Home," was treated by Rev. O. P. Bestor, of Beloit.

Chicago Made a Bid For Riots. Rev. E. W. White, of the Tabernacle church, Milwaukee, struck out right and left in handling "Right and Wrongs of Industrial Relations." He pointed to the balance that must be maintained. He referred to the great July strike and said if that strike had to be he was glad Chicago was the city rather than any other city in the country. It was in Chicago that God's law for Sabbath observance had been set aside. It was in Chicago that capital had applied the pressure most fiercely. He admitted labor was tyrannical but it had to meet tyranny. There would be no mob cry heard, he said, when the workman owned his home and had it cozily furnished. On George M. Pullman, rather than on any other man, rested the responsibility for that Chicago horror. Scattering applause greeted this declaration. The speaker closed by insisting that in this day most public men are representing aggregations of interests, not principles. He hoped nobody in his audience would go to hear McKinley.

"What is McKinley?" he said. "He is merely a representative of an aggregation of interests. His following is not in Alabama or Tennessee but is wholly in the north. Coxe represented an aggregation of interests. John Sherman, in his defense of the bonded whisky law, was simply a Coxeyite with a change in interests." A discussion of Dr. Henderson's plea for the study of sociology brought out a question from Dr. Hodge as to whether ministers in following the latter day tendency to deal more with practical themes and less with spiritual were not liable to let the pendulum swing too far. Dr. Henderson conceded that this very easily might be so and urged against any such perversion. Still he believed practically could not be neglected.

"The ability we have in putting the bread of this life to the people's lips" he said, "may have much to do with our ability to put before them the bread of eternal life."

The speaker wanted his hearers to remember that the church was made for men, not men for the church. Any teaching that made the securing of members and resources for a church the prime end was a mistake.

Work of the Afternoon.

Thoughtful and suggestive remarks by Rev. H. J. Finch, Herman Burns, D. E. Halteman D. D., W. W. Patten and S. P. Everett occupied the afternoon. President W. A. McKillop presided during the day and Rev. F. Sprague was secretary. This evening and tomorrow the programme will be:

Work of The Women.

An enthusiastic and interesting gathering of women missionary workers was held in the Congregational church this morning. About one hundred were in attendance. The woman's session of the Home and Foreign missionary societies was conducted by Mrs. L. Smith, vice president. Mrs. Bestor, of Evansville, was elected recording secretary. The address of welcome was given by Mrs. Lee Beers. In the absence of Mrs. McKillop a response was given by the vice president.

Mrs. Smith said $1247.75 had been raised in the last year for work among the Scandinavians. There were interesting addresses by Mrs. Densmore of Delevan, Mrs. Evans of Milwaukee, Mrs. Main of Madison, and Mrs. Barber of Chicago. Mrs. M. G. Hodge was one of those appointed on the standing committee for the ensuing year.

This afternoon Miss A. Herkimer led a devotional meeting, and numerous reports were read. A mission hour is set apart for the women to-morrow afternoon in the state convention, and another Thursday morning.

LOSS CAUSED SHAW TO TAKE MORPHINE

SUICIDE PROMPTED BY UNFORTUNATE GRAIN DEALS.

Mrs. Pinkham Hastens to Chicago On Receiving the Sad News—Burial Not in Janesville But in Ripon This Afternoon—Details Of the Tragedy.

A. K. Shaw's death was that of suicide. This fact in connection with the venerable Board of Trade operator's demise was brought out last night. Mrs. Jessie Pinkham of this city, went to Chicago at once on hearing of her father's deed, but the remains were not brought here for burial as was at first expected. They were taken to Ripon, where other members of the family lie. Mr. Shaw swallowed the fatal dose of morphine at his home, 384 Bissell street, in Chicago, Sunday evening. Before swallowing the drug he wrote the following:

SUNDAY NIGHT, OCT. 7.—CORONER:—My family are all that's good and kind. They know nothing of my destruction. Do not blame them. Few only know. You need not look, or you cannot find. Truly financial. Let it rest with me. Respectfully, A. K. SHAW.

This letter was found in Mr. Shaw's trousers' pocket, several hours after his death by his son, Harry B. Shaw. The first three or four lines of the letter had been underscored by the writer.

The announcement of the sudden death of Mr. Shaw caused a shock and universal surprise among his friends on the Board of Trade yesterday morning. At the inquest held in the afternoon by Deputy Coroner Coffey it was stated that Mr. Shaw had threatened to commit suicide. The son told the coroner he believed that his father's mind had been affected for a year or more by losses in speculation. During a week previous to his death, the son said, he knew that his father was using morphine to relieve nervousness, with which he was troubled.

Mr. Shaw lived with his wife, three daughters and one son. He had been in failing health for three years and he recently made a trip to California. His malady resembled neuralgia and he frequently used chloral and morphine as a sedative. Mr. Shaw came to Chicago about forty years ago and was special active in board of trade and commission circles. Mrs. Pinkham of this city, is his eldest daughter. His second daughter is Mrs. Edward Grace, and his third daughter lives in Dubuque, Iowa.

SOMETHING ABOUT JEWELS.

A double diamond heart set with pearls, with one pearl drooping from it, makes a most dainty brooch.

A butterfly of diamonds, studded on the wings with rubies, emeralds and sapphires, is admirably effective.

An owl for the hair or to wear as a brooch is beautifully modeled in diamonds, with eyes of yellow agates.

Bangle bracelets are still worn, as they show the beauty of a row of well matched stones with splendid effect.

A comb surmounted by two dainty little mercury wings united by a knot of diamonds is a most popular ornament for the hair.

The golden cornelian is the stone which will be adopted for bridesmaids' gifts. It combines well with diamonds and pearls.

A pretty arrangement for low dresses is a collar of tulle just gathered, and the fullness divided at intervals by four diamond bars.

One of the novelties is a snake bracelet to be worn round the top of the arm, thickly incrusting with diamonds, and with eyes of emeralds or rubies.

A pretty new brooch is a beetle balanced on a bar of gold, with ruby eyes. Another is a true lover's knot pierced with an arrow and having a single pearl in the center.

Tortoise shell blended with chased silver is in great favor this year, especially for toilet ornaments. A pretty three folding looking glass has an edge of lace-like design in pierced and repousse silver.

Large ornaments that can be worn either in the hair or on the corsage are in great favor. A couple of ostrich plumes in diamonds that quiver at every movement are unusually light and pretty.

Although the half hoop rings are still greatly used, the new suit of small, all round rings of diamonds, rubies and emeralds, in imitation of the early Victorian era, are dainty and look well for young girls.

Professor Birkholz, of Chicago, Gives Hope to Those Afflicted with Baldness—A "No Cure, No Pay" Treatment.

Professor G. Birkholz, of Chicago, the eminent German specialist, who for years has devoted his life to the study of the hair, and who has evolved the most successful treatment for baldness the world has ever known.

He will carefully examine each case and candidly inform the inquirer whether his baldness can be cured and the hair be restored. These examinations are made without charge.

In all cases where there are any hair follicles remaining, destroyed by a cure or disease, the professor will undertake a cure, and if he does not effect a restoration of the hair he will ask no pay.

The remedy is an important one, and the treatment given by the professor is his own, and cures where all others fail. If your case has been pronounced incurable, do not take it as a final answer until you have seen Professor Birkholz and received his opinion.

Many persons have small bald spots through the hair. These increase in area and in time produce baldness. In such cases the hair follicles need nourishment. Prompt treatment will bring the hair into activity and restore the hair.

The success that has attended Professor Birkholz everywhere enables him to give a positive opinion in each case presented to him. Those who are bald or are threatened with baldness should not delay treatment, but call upon the professor at once. 1011 Masonic Temple Chicago.

SILK GOWNS.

They Are Now Within Reach of Persons of Moderate Means.

Silken fabrics in great variety are as fashionable this fall as they were during the summer. Next to wool, silk is the easiest thing to dye, and it runs riot in the whole gamut of colors. The aniline dyes, evolved by German chemists from coal tar, give many of the most delightful tints. For the rest there is madder and Brazil wood, tumeric and cochineal, indigo, logwood, fustic, prussian blue and a hundred more.

There is no shade, no tint, no cloud of color but may be caught and repeated in order that beauty may be adorned like unto the king's daughter in "vesture of gold wrought about with divers colors."

Not many years ago the wearing of silk was confined to the favored few who possessed long purses, but lately, especially during the last year or so, silk of good quality has been so reduced in price that it is now easily obtainable by the woman of moderate income. Ribbons and silk hosiery as well as piece silk are wonderfully cheap, as are plush and art draperies, while silk and linen and silk mixed are superseding silena and cambrie for the lining of bodices and skirts.

As cold weather approaches fine woolen goods will be combined with silk, an excellent opportunity for such combinations being afforded by the double and draped skirts, which, while not yet prevailing over the plain variety, are quite a la mode and are shown in many of the new designs. Before they succeed in ousting plain skirts from general favor it will be necessary to contract the width now accepted as the rule, for a skirt four yards around additionally weighted with drapery is too heavy for the average woman to carry about with her.

The sketch shows a gown of gray cloth combined with gray and white striped silk. The lower skirt is of bias silk, the upper of cloth lined with white satin. The cloth bodice is cut with a ripple basque and has cloth revers over wider white satin ones. The vest and cuffs are of silk, with the stripes arranged in points.

SUITS FOR BOYS.

They Must Withstand the Hardest Kind of Usage.

The seams of boys' clothing should be neatly and strongly finished at the ends and strong linen thread used in their manufacture. Buttons must especially receive plenty of thread, and those that have to bear a strain should be sewed on over a pin or a match, which should be removed when the sewing is done. The thread should then be wound around the strands between the button and the cloth until a structure is built which is perfectly firm. Then the thread should be securely fastened on the under side. It is astonishing to find how many mothers and even professional seamstresses do not sew buttons on in this way and seem never to have heard of it. A strong double lining or stay for the button should be provided, or else at the first provocation the boy will demolish the very cloth itself, and nothing will be left upon which a new button may be established. On all ready made suits the buttons should be carefully reviewed before the boy is allowed to put them on. Cloth covered buttons are a delusion. At best the cloth covering wears shabby in a few weeks, and it is often difficult to match such buttons. Bone and gutta percha are good enough for any common suit. Brail binding, even when it is of alpaca, is to be avoided. It wears off early in conspicuous places and must be often renewed.

Most mothers find the ready made suits, if purchased from a good shop, the most economical. Among most of these, even some of the best, a prevalent failing is a narrowness of the coat across the chest. The result of this is to make the boy stoop and to injure his breathing power. It would be better to have the coat a trifle too broad than too narrow. Indeed in buying coats for growing boys allowance must be made for much filling out and stretching up during a period of three or four months.

A sketch is given of two suits for a 7-year-old boy, the first of serge, the second of cloth. Each is suitable for school wear.

Royal Bracelets.

The German emperor wears two bracelets, in accordance with an old royal custom, and the Duke of Saxe-Coburg wears one that is his betrothal bangle. The Prince of Wales put on his when he went to India many years ago, and it has not left his arm since. There is considerable sentiment in this custom, and though its steadfast nature is scarcely in touch with the modern laxity of the marriage tie it might not be a bad idea to cultivate it as a corrective if not a preventive of divorce.

President Carnot was the third Frenchman to whom a national funeral has been accorded. The other two were Gambetta, January 6, 1883, and Victor Hugo, June 1, 1885. Their obsequies cost 20,000 francs each. The late president's is estimated to have cost 120,000 francs.

Not long ago Emperor William got it into his head that he would like to learn something about American literature. A reader was engaged to guide and direct him in his studies, and an hour a day was given by the emperor to a perusal of Hawthorne, Emerson, Longfellow, Richard Harding Davis and other giants of the pen. After a few months of investigation in this line the emperor declared that we have only one great writer—namely, Captain Mahan.

A YOUNG GIRL'S FORTUNE.

AN INTERESTING SKETCH.

Nothing appeals so strongly to a mother's affection as her daughter just budding into womanhood. Following is an instance: "Our daughter, Blanche, now 15 years of age, had been terribly afflicted with nervousness, and had lost the entire use of her right arm. She was in such a condition that we had to keep her from school and abandon her music lessons. In fact, we feared St. Vitus dance, and were positive but for an invaluable remedy she would have had that terrible affliction. We had employed physicians, but she received no benefit from them. The first of last August she weighed but 75 pounds, and although she has taken only three bottles of Nerve she now weighs 105 pounds; her nervousness and symptoms of St. Vitus dance are entirely gone, she attends school regularly, and studies with ease. She has recovered complete use of her arm, her appetite is splendid, and no money could procure for our daughter the health Dr. Miles' Nerve has brought her."

When my brother recommended the remedy I had no faith in patent medicines, and would not listen to him, but as a last resort he sent us a bottle, we began giving it to Blanche, and the effect was almost immediate."—Mrs. R. R. Bullock, Brighton, N. Y.

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nerve is sold by all druggists on a positive guarantee, or sent direct by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5, express prepaid. It is positively free from opiates or dangerous drugs.

The Old Story Retold.

A fox just at the time of the vintage, stole into a vineyard, where the grapes ripe and sunny were trellised up on high, in a most tempting manner. He made many a jump after the luscious prize, but failed in all his attempts; he muttered as he retreated, "Well what does it matter, the grapes are sour?" We took along a step ladder and now we are feasting on the choicest of the vineyard. You have a pressing invitation to join us.
